Outdoor Furniture Collection Guide

Furniture, fabric and outdoor space considered together.

2026 EDITION

Start with the space the furniture needs to work in.

Doors, circulation, dining clearances, pool edges, shelter and outlook all influence what belongs there.

A generous modular lounge may suit a broad alfresco area and overwhelm a compact balcony. CCBD edits the direction around the architecture and use of the space, then confirms the selected furniture, finish, cushion options and supply scope.

No prices or unverified specifications are shown in this guide.

Sofas and modular settings.

MODULAR ALFRESCO

Scale, circulation and the relationship to doors are considered before configuration.

COVERED TERRACE

Frame, cushion depth and the textile direction form one furniture decision.

Apartment balconies and compact courtyards.

BALCONY-SCALE DINING

A compact setting should preserve movement, access and outlook.

COURTYARD SEATING

A fitted bench or carefully scaled chair can be more useful than a deep lounge.

Dining settings and lounge chairs.

DINING

Dining clearances and fitted seat pads should be considered with the table and circulation.

LOUNGE CHAIRS

Comfort, frame scale and cushion support remain part of the selection.

Poolside, coastal and exposed spaces.

POOLSIDE

Selected furniture and textiles are confirmed for the actual application.

COASTAL CONTEXT

Exposure, storage and maintenance remain part of the outdoor brief.

One outdoor furnishing brief.

MATERIAL DIRECTION

Actual furniture finishes and supported fabric options are confirmed before ordering.

FIT & DETAIL

Frame scale, cushion profile and cover fit change how a piece feels.

INSIDE / OUTSIDE

Interior and outdoor palettes can relate without using identical fabrics.
